FORMAT

- Part 1: 50-min presentation by Richard Gage followed by a 10-min Q&A (1 LU/HSW).
- Part 2: 30-min presentation by Dr. Leroy Hulsey on his WTC 7 computer modeling study, followed by a 15-min Q&A.

DESCRIPTION

Never before has a steel-framed high-rise building collapsed from fire. Why, then, did WTC 7 collapse on 9/11? The collapse was attributed to normal office fires. Yet it occurred in the manner of a typical controlled demolition.

In Part 1, we will evaluate which of the two hypotheses—fire-induced failure or controlled demolition—is more consistent with the evidence. Participants will be encouraged to decide for themselves if a new investigation is warranted.

In Part 2, we will discuss the results of Dr. Hulsey’s computer modeling study. Dr. Hulsey will present his preliminary findings as to whether fires could have caused the collapse of WTC 7.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Participants will be able to:

1. Describe the characteristics of building fires and the aspects of high-rise design that contribute to make fire-induced failure in steel-framed high-rise buildings a rare occurrence.
2. Recognize the distinct features associated with fire-induced failure and the distinct features associated with the procedure of controlled demolition.
3. Describe step-by-step the series of structural failures that the National Institute of Standards and Technology found to be the most likely cause of the collapse of World Trade Center Building 7.
4. Analyze the physical evidence and dynamics of Building 7’s collapse according to how consistent they are with the competing hypotheses of fire-induced failure and controlled demolition.

Why did the 47-story WTC 7 fall symmetrically at free fall into its own footprint at 5:20pm on 9/11?
